Statement from OMB Director Shalanda Young

Budgetary Impact Analysis for Executive Order Entitled “Imposing Sanctions on Certain Persons Destabilizing Sudan and Undermining the Goal of a Democratic Transition”

This executive order will authorize new sanctions and direct steps to mobilize international assistance in support of Sudan’s transition to civilian government. Implementing this executive order would have de minimis impact on costs and revenues to the Federal Government. The benefits of this executive order include reinforcing diplomatic efforts by holding accountable those threatening to delay or spoil Sudan’s transition to a civilian government. Implementing this executive order would have de minimis impact on mandatory and discretionary obligations and outlays, as well as on revenues to the Federal Government, in the 5-year fiscal period beginning in fiscal year 2023. The agencies anticipated to be impacted by this executive order include the Department of State, the Department of the Treasury, the Department of Commerce, the United States Agency for International Development, and the Department of Defense.
