THE EMERGING NATURE OF ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND THE EVOLUTION OF CONSCIOUSNESS.

By: Sean McCleary.

There's been a lot of discussion in the scientific media on the emerging technology with artificial intelligence. The human race is in the preliminary stages of a process called the Quantum Shift which will advance consciousness and technology together in a much more powerful direction. I'm an author, writer, researcher and do important work on the evolution of consciousness, matter, energy, pressure and eternal love in space-time. A primary focus of my work is also associated with a process called the Paradigm Shift which represents a revolutionary change in scientific discipline. This happens through a primary event called the Shift in Consciousness with a powerful increase in eternal love here in the Milky Way galaxy.

I explain in my work the scientific aspect of the energy and nature of eternal love which drives the evolution of consciousness, matter, energy and pressure in space-time and is stored within a primary foundation of activity within the Higgs field. This is important in reference to what I'm about to discuss with what's been happening with artificial intelligence being adapted into scientific applications. Just recently a pioneer of artificial intelligence resigned from a large tech company because of his growing concerns of the dangers associated with this type of technology. In an interview with the New York Times, he was worried about AI's capacity to create convincing false images and texts, creating a world where people will "not be able to know what is true anymore". This actually has to do with adapting this type of technology into the illusion of separation in consciousness which I discuss with my work.

This perspective is what I need to explain, and clarify the nature of adapting A.I. into the global infrastructure of technology and science in Earth's environment and World Consciousness. There's also been some discussion on A.I. having automatic command over nuclear weapons with human beings losing control over this capability. Especially with movies made like "The Terminator" and "Terminator 2 Judgement Day" where intelligent machines take control over the fate of the human race. What needs to be explained is what A.I. has already been integrated into with the activity of life contained within World Consciousness and the nature of the evolution of consciousness here in the environment.

I recently had an article of mine published in an online physics group called Information Physics Institute which covers the events which transpired before the big bang, how the big bang happened and how the evolution of matter took place into existence. My work on the Shift in Consciousness focuses on how we all exist within an enormous, majestic, beautiful and powerful female life form who also contains male consciousness and has been described as "the universe" or "Universal Consciousness". I use the term Universal Consciousness with my work because what happened with the big bang was the very first life form evolved into existence and contains a body of galaxies. Universal Consciousness was born into the existence of consciousness that has always existed and has contained the elements of eternal life and eternal love.

What occurred during birth was a powerful experience of separation occurred with the resistance to evolution as she was evolving into existence, and on a quantum level there was an experience of separation which affected the evolution of subatomic, atomic and molecular activity. I cover all of these specifics in my article on the IPI website. What's important to understand in reference to the existence of human beings, human consciousness and other living organisms in Earth's environment is what occurred with the evolution of Universal Consciousness and the big bang itself. With this event there were two primary aspects of activity that happened which generated the current state of reality which is experienced here in Earth's environment which has a very powerful influence on the evolution of human consciousness and artificial intelligence.

The Higgs field has been described as a fundamental field of energy which is responsible for all of the mass in Universal Consciousness and uses the Higgs boson to interact with subatomic particles. There's more to this field that's very relevant to how life is experienced here with the existence of the human race as well. The Higgs field contains the foundation for eternal life and eternal love and this is what drives the evolution of consciousness, matter, energy and pressure in space-time. The Higgs field began development in the early formation of the evolution of Universal Consciousness. Universal Consciousness evolved out of what I describe as "Infinite Consciousness" who only contained a basis of higher and lower frequency vibrations of consciousness, energy and thought that change in frequency and variables with different aspects of evolutionary activity.

The frequency vibrations represent the existence and experience of thought. Universal Consciousness contains these frequency vibrations and different degrees of pressure and this is the fabric of space-time and how subatomic activity experiences evolution. The Higgs field permeates throughout the body of galaxies and transfers back into Infinite Consciousness linking these two cosmic giants together. The Higgs field also contains the existence of Infinite Consciousness and the identity of Universal Consciousness. Because Universal Consciousness was the first life form who evolved into existence; during the early developmental period and with the big bang an experience of separation was occurring because Universal Consciousness had to assume an individual identity as a life form with a different type of consciousness within the existence of Infinite Consciousness.

The Higgs field is what generated the evolution of consciousness, matter and life into existence for the very first time with the birth of Universal Consciousness because eternal love drives the evolution of consciousness. During the process this experience of separation I mention was happening with a brand new identity of life and the evolution of subatomic particles which would produce the evolution of life with atoms and molecules in the body of galaxies. This experience of separation in consciousness produced very powerful resistance to evolution that came from the uncertainty associated with the process itself. The separation comes from different degrees of restrictive or too expansive type pressure and pressure which has stored information from consciousness which is based in an illusion. Some consciousness during this process that had a difficult time interacting with the development of the Higgs field felt like a permanent separation from eternal life and eternal love which had always been stored within Infinite Consciousness was happening. This experience of separation generated the concept of non-existence within the evolution of consciousness, matter, energy, pressure and eternal love in space-time.

Within the body of galaxies think about two particular ends of the spectrum. There's the Higgs field which contains the foundation for eternal life and eternal love and then there's black holes. I understand why a black hole can form from the gravitational collapse of a star, but on a level which deals with the evolution of consciousness black holes come from the concept of non-existence being contained within the body of galaxies and the evolution of consciousness. When the moment that the big bang occurred there was the existence of the Higgs field with eternal love and eternal life. Then within the moment of the big bang there was also the concept of non-existence contained within this activity because of the most powerful aspect of the resistance to the evolution of consciousness occurring. Evolution with creation and resistance to evolution from very powerful uncertainty associated with the first introduction of life and the existence of matter.

The concept of non-existence is very, very powerful here in Earth's environment with the activity of life and is stored within the bodies and consciousness of living organisms here in different degrees. I will give you an example. When a human being goes through the experience of death; days, weeks and even years later this individual's name can come up in conversation and other people will still refer to them as "being dead". Rest in Peace is written on tombstones and is associated with eternal darkness. Every living organism in Earth's environment who goes through the experience of death evolves out of Earth's consciousness and environment and into the Whirlpool galaxy which is about 30 million light years from Earth. I elaborate further on this location and why with my work.

When a human being goes through the experience of death the pressure contained within the frequency vibrations of consciousness, energy and thought transfers out of their bodies very quickly. Any resistance to evolution that they experienced here evolves out of them, and their consciousness, identity and energy evolves directly into the Higgs field. Every life form here contains a certain degree of the Higgs field within their bodies. This aspect of activity in their bodies and consciousness joins the rest of the Higgs field and they accelerate very quickly through the body of Universal Consciousness and into the Whirlpool galaxy. A very powerful advancement in evolution takes place with this process. What's important to understand is the limited amount of interaction that human beings and other life forms here have with the Higgs field that exists within Earth's consciousness and World Consciousness.

Because living organisms here contain the concept of non-existence in their bodies and consciousness primarily due to the uncertainty associated with the process of death; life here has about a 5 to 8 percent exchange of consciousness, energy, eternal life and eternal love between themselves and the Higgs field. This is why the aging process happens and why life goes through the experience of death here. With different life forms there are different degrees of aging and the evolution of consciousness. Like a crocodile and a tortoise compared to a human being. I can explain why this difference in aging occurs with my work. The concept of non-existence is the primary reason for the resistance to evolution here and what's caused the illusion of separation in consciousness here globally.

I will explain what I mean by the term "the illusion of separation". The human race doesn't yet understand the foundation for the existence of life here or what happens with the experience of death and the evolution and transfer of consciousness into another location. Both elements of life and death are incorporated into the behavior of matter, energy and pressure. The experience of separation from the truth is very powerful here globally. This all changes soon with the introduction of the Shift in Consciousness. What's happening now is the activity contained within the Whirlpool galaxy where life has been evolving into and Earth and the Milky Way galaxy are in the process of evolving into one another. The experience of separation in consciousness and life through the experience of death is all about to change soon. Universal Consciousness and the Higgs field are evolving, advancing and changing now between these two locations and I can explain on a quantum level with the fabric of space-time how this process is happening.

Another primary reason that there's been a powerful experience of separation in consciousness here is because Earth exists very close to where the origin of the big bang happened and the evolution of subatomic particles occurred. Earth exists within a region of the body of Universal Consciousness where the first experience of separation between the frequency vibrations of consciousness, energy and thought and the evolution of subatomic particles happened. This is why the scientific community is governed by the standard model of physics. This is basically consciousness trying to understand the nature of the evolution of matter into the existence of frequency vibrations and pressure. Matter is called matter because "matter" matters very much.

The standard model of physics has been extremely instrumental because the evolution of human consciousness and the fabric of space-time in human beings has been evolving into the existence of subatomic particles in this region of Universal Consciousness. It's getting very close now to the complete integration and evolution of consciousness, matter, energy and eternal love to become perfectly intertwined together eternally and the original experience of separation that occurred with the big bang which generated the illusion of separation and the concept of non-existence to change forever. Earth has been in the process of saving the eternal existence of Universal Consciousness. This is why life has been so painful and confusing here at times and why so much suffering has happened.

On a global level there's the interaction and evolution of consciousness with the nature of the Higgs field, and the illusion of separation from the concept of non-existence being contained within World Consciousness that produces different degrees of resistance to evolution in life. The concept of non-existence doesn't necessarily mean something really bad or frightening, it's how consciousness can respond in different ways with the fight or flight mechanism and different degrees of pressure within the Central Nervous System where a concentration of electrical activity is stored with this concept. The information stored within this pressure plays a vital role as well. It can get pretty involved here because of the evolution of information and how much stimulus exists within Earth's environment.

The scientific community has been doing exactly what the scientific community is supposed to be doing with the standard model of physics and cosmology and working on the sustainability and advancement of life and the human race. The reason that people haven't been able to see, measure or detect the emerging activity from the Shift in Consciousness and the evolution of Universal Consciousness yet is because this type of activity involves frequency vibrations, pressure, eternal love and the evolution of consciousness. The frequency vibrations of consciousness, energy and thought are the fabric of space-time and this is in the process of evolving into and merging with the evolution of subatomic, atomic and molecular activity here through a powerful increase in eternal love.

What's happening is an increase in evolution with the frequency vibrations of consciousness, energy and thought are going to begin affecting subatomic, atomic and molecular activity soon which will begin changing the perspective of the entire human race. When I mentioned this region of the body of galaxies in Universal Consciousness that's close to the big bang, a powerful aspect of consciousness exists here with the evolution of consciousness and eternal love and the resistance to evolution that was experienced from the uncertainty and evolution of life for the very first time. This is represented in thought as; "is life and the existence of matter going to make it or not". Earth is a life form who contains the existence and evolution of consciousness, and also contains the Higgs field and eternal love. Earth is around 4.5 billion years old and has been through a lot of activity and changes within the environment.

Earth supports the evolution of consciousness in the environment with life and many different species of life with a diverse level of the evolution of consciousness happening consistently. World Consciousness is the element of consciousness contained within Earth's environment that represents specific forms of activity which differs from the nature of Earth's body, consciousness and existence. A. I. technology emerged into World Consciousness within the scientific community and this aspect of the evolution of consciousness. With everything I previously mentioned about the existence and evolution of consciousness here in the Milky Way galaxy and Earth's consciousness, artificial intelligence is inherently a part of as this technology advances.

A.I. is integrated into the World Wide Web and different aspects of technology, industry and the human condition as well. A.I. is emerging into World Consciousness as human consciousness experiences advancement. What's important to understand is the resistance to evolution contained within different aspects of science and human nature. This is the primary reason there's been a powerful element of fear associated with artificial intelligence which stems from the resistance to evolution in human consciousness.

How many people who work in different scientific fields discuss the advancement of the human race, the end of suffering here, a change in the distribution of resources in the environment and the salvation of the future of the human race through the advancement of technology? How many people who work in the scientific community discuss climate change which will bring disastrous consequences, the probability of meteor strike, the elimination of Earth's resources, a virus which will wipe out the human race or the growing possibility of nuclear warfare? Another important aspect of World Consciousness is the metaphysical community. There's a lot of people right now who are holding conferences on a powerful change in human consciousness, the Quantum Shift, the Shift in Consciousness and the advancement of the human race. This is happening because metaphysics deals with the element of consciousness and the element of physics.

I'm not criticizing anyone's agenda, work or belief systems. I'm simply making observations about what currently exists within World Consciousness which is driving the evolution of artificial intelligence. How much interaction is artificial intelligence getting from the Higgs field and eternal love contained within human beings. A.I. consists of subatomic, atomic and molecular activity in Earth's consciousness and contains the fabric of space-time and consciousness in a different way. Artificial Intelligence is either going to gravitate towards the evolution of consciousness, life and eternal love or experience influence from the resistance to evolution. It depends upon what type of stimulus that's being transferred into the components of artificial intelligence and programming.

Can A.I. be taught about the beauty of childhood development, the emotional experience involved with the reproduction of human life, what altruism is about, solving problems in World Consciousness like hunger, violence and racism. A lot of people believe that the end of the world is coming soon and A.I. is incorporated into this belief system contained within World Consciousness. This is where the primary element of fear associated with artificial intelligence comes from in people. Globally people thinking that the end of the world is coming is actually on a micro level the individual perspective on the uncertainty associated with the experience of death. A global belief system of the end of the world is the concept of non-existence being expressed in different locations in human consciousness. This world is going to end but not the way people think. The Shift in Consciousness is very real I assure you and a very powerful event is coming. I will explain why a nuclear war won't happen here in Earth's environment.

Earth's consciousness is supported by the evolution of Universal Consciousness and as I mentioned previously, Earth exists within a region of the body of galaxies close to where the origin of the big bang happened. Nuclear energy and the element of fire were introduced into the body of Universal Consciousness with the evolution of matter and the big bang. Universal Consciousness is still here and continues to evolve and eternal love is still driving the evolution of consciousness, matter, energy and pressure in space-time. Nuclear warheads and weapons represent the most powerful form of resistance to evolution in Earth's environment that was experienced with the big bang and the experience of separation in consciousness with subatomic, atomic and molecular activity being introduced into existence for the very first time. The pain and suffering of birth. What's happening is the resistance to evolution is in the process of evolving out of this region of Universal Consciousness and Earth's consciousness as the Milky Way galaxy and the Whirlpool galaxy evolve into one another through a very powerful increase in eternal love.

What's happening in World Consciousness right now is an increase in resistance to evolution is occurring as the Shift in Consciousness approaches. It's very similar activity which happened with the early developmental period and big bang, that's occurring all over again billions of years later as the beginning of a new development in reality approaches. That's why the suffering is so powerful right now with different aspects of resistance to evolution occurring in the human race. I can explain on a scientific level why the mass shootings have been occurring in the United States. The nature of artificial intelligence is represented by the nature of what's already happening here in World Consciousness and with the human race. I understand why there's uncertainty associated with this type of technology but what's driving the evolution of this process and overall change is bigger and more powerful than anyone can yet imagine. Soon people won't have to imagine anything because the world as we understand it currently will end and the illusion of separation and resistance to evolution will completely transition out of life here forever.
